Earth Day – April 22

The earth is Allah's creation and it is our responsibility to look after it. Next week is Earth Day and students will be discussing ways to protect the Earth's resources and decrease waste. Reusing and recycling will be emphasized and we hope that parents will follow up at home. Watch out for more information on a litterless lunch day to be held on April 22nd, as well as other activities planned by the PTA for Earth Day. Let us all do our part to help protect the earth's resources for future generations.

Islamic Studies:

Salaat Translation competition - Students have been memorizing the translation of Salaat and will be tested on April 30th/May 1st. The test will be a written one and students will be asked to write down the English translation of some of the Dhikr of salaat. Winners (all those who receive a mark of 90% or more) will be declared in the assembly and will receive a prize.

Ali Asghar water Appeal - Students are collecting very enthusiastically for this noble cause of providing poor children with access to clean drinking water. The bottles have been selling very fast and many students have already filled their bottles with funds from family and friends. The due date is April 30th. There will be two prizes for the students who collect the most.

Science Fair: Science was in the air! Heba and Hasti from Grade 7 entered the York Region Sci-Tech Fair. Heba won a silver medal for her project on Memory Transfer in Planaria and Hasti received a Certificate of Appreciation for her experiment on the Reproduction of Paramecium when exposed to various environments. Both girls represented the school with great pride and confidence. I would like to thank the teachers and parents who supported and provided guidance to our students during the Science Fair. I would also like to thank all the judges for taking the time from their personal schedules to judge our students. Jazakalla.....
